You use Covidien Monoject syringes in caring for your child. The manufacturer is changing the protective coverings on these syringes. A soft plastic wrapper is replacing the hard plastic case. Caregivers often use the current hard plastic case as a container for various purposes. PHS searched for replacement syringes with hard plastic coverings, and none are available.

Talk with us about alternate methods for addressing your uses of the hard plastic case. We can help determine options and if your child’s insurance pays for any alternate methods.

NEW Package and Syringe

OLD Package and Syringe

Note: The syringes themselves have minor changes that do not affect your use of the syringes. Changes to the syringe and package will happen for all syringe sizes and types over the next several months.