Pediatric Home Service Named Top Midsize Workplace
Home care company leads the way among midsize companies in 2015

St. Paul, Minn. – Named the best mid-size company, Pediatric Home Service (PHS) has been recognized for the fifth year in a row in the Star Tribune’s sixth annual ranking of the top 150 Workplaces in Minnesota, but unlike years past, this year PHS has been ranked the number one midsize workplace in Minnesota.

Top Workplaces recognizes the most progressive companies in Minnesota based on a confidential employee survey measuring engagement, organizational health and satisfaction. Employees of the winning firms reported feeling valued and cited having great benefits, corporate philanthropy, community sponsorship and celebratory parties as perks.

Mark Hamman, president of Pediatric Home Service, said the company is honored to receive this recognition. “We are incredibly fortunate to employ people who are just as passionate about our business as we are. We thrive on an environment of helping others, both internally and externally, which I believe makes us a top workplace.”

At Pediatric Home Service, worker satisfaction comes in part from meaningful relationships with patient families and relationships in the office, according to Lindsey Paitich, PHS case manager.

Noted in the PHS surveys were other team-building events such as kickball and Wii bowling, an annual Halloween party for patients and their families, popcorn days once a month, potlucks, holiday meals and visits from a barista.

According to the Star Tribune, in the survey conducted by WorkplaceDynamics, Minnesota ranked first among 45 regions surveyed on workplace satisfaction. The survey focused on components of well-being, like relationships, positive feelings and a sense of meaning.
